L × A × T × I × N . . .

Dominus Vobiscum - God be with you.

Sit Vis Vobiscum - May the Force be with you.

Veni Vidi Vici - I came, I saw, I calculated

Consummatum est - it is completed, Christ's last words on the cross, John 19:30.

lacta alea est - The die is cast (at the crossing of the Rubicon) Julius Caesar 102?-44BC

Experimentum crucis - a decisive test showing which of several hypotheses is correct.

Ex ungue leonem - by the claw (you may know) the lion. (Latin)

Quantum est quod desit - Roughly: "To the brink but no further" - poem by Thomas Moore 1779-1852

Ab ovo usque ad mala (from the egg to the apples i.e. from the beginning to the end).

Noli me tangere (touch me not) scientious est potentia (knowledge is power)

L × I × G × H × T & D × A × R × K × N × E × S × S . . .

A little light serves me well. (I.N)

Nature and Nature's laws lay hid in night:
God said "let John be!" and all was light.
(Epitaph intended for I.N composed by Alexander Pope)

The darkest hour is before the dawn. (17th Cent)

Always face towards the Sun and the shadows will fall behind you.

And as the Sun breaks through the darkest cloud(s) (The Taming of the Shrew)

If there were no darkness we would not appreciate the light (Star Trek, TV 14/4/97).

MY FAVOURITE QUOTATIONS IN NO PARTICULAR ORDER AND COLLECTED OVER 30 YEARS...

Like a sunflower bends to the light... (W H Auden)

Do you need prove of God?
Does one light a torch to see the sun?

Without darkness we would not appreciate the light.

When it's dark enough you can see the stars.

S × T × A × R × S

We are all in the gutter, but some of us are looking at the stars. (Oscar Wilde, 1854-1900)

It is the stars, the stars above us, govern our conditions (WS - King Lear)

... you're like a shooting star among stars.... (Jack, The Film, 1996)

The stars are not wanted now: put out every one,
Pack up the moon and dismantle the sun,
Pour away the ocean and sweep up the wood;
For nothing now can ever come to any good. (W H Auden)

Doubt thou the stars are fire;
Doubt that the sun does move;
Doubt truth to be a liar;
But never doubt I love. (WS - Hamlet)

T × I × M × E . . .

Procrastination is the thief of time (Edward Young 1683-1765).

Constant dripping wears away the stone. (Greek)

Like as the waves make towards the pebble shore,

So do our minutes hasten to their end (Sonnets 60, WS).

If you can look into the seeds of time and say which grain will grow and which will not (WS - Macbeth).

I have a rendezvous with Death,
At some disputed barricade - Alan Seeger 1888-1916

MY FAVOURITE QUOTATIONS IN NO PARTICULAR ORDER AND COLLECTED OVER 30 YEARS...

From the cradle to the grave...

Hope you grow old with care and care for nothing when you grow old. (A film!)

The winds must come from somewhere when they blow,
There must be reasons why the leaves decay;
Time will say nothing but I told you so. (If I could tell you by W H Auden 1907-73)

L × O × V × E . . .

Good night, good night! parting is such sweet sorrow...

But love is blind and lovers cannot see the pretty follies that themselves commit
(Measure for Measure)

That I shall say good night till it be morrow (Romeo & Juliet)

The lowest trees have tops, the ant her gall,
The fly her spleen, the little spark his heat:
The slender hairs cast shadows, though but small.
And bees have stings, although they be not great;
Seas have their source, and so have shallow springs:
And love is love, in beggars and in kings.

(Poem "Love is Love" by Sir Edward Dyer 1543-1607)

Men have died from time to time, and worms have eaten them, but not for love (Hamlet).

I love you (in Latin) (Ego) Amo Te (ego, for emphasis)

I × S × A × A × C N × E × W × T × O × N . . .

If I have seen further it's by standing on the shoulders of giants (I.N. but originally John of Salisbury c.1115-93).

Nearer the gods no mortal may approach. - Edmond Halley on Newton's Principia.

Ex ungue leonem - by the claw (you may know) the lion. (Latin)

made it abstruse ... to avoid being baited by little smatterers in Mathematics (I.N).

Nature and Nature's laws lay hid in night:
God said "let Newton be!" and all was light.

The litmus test ...

... he's had a charisma bypass.

In great attempts it's sometimes even glorious to fail.

Her only vice was that she didn't like woodwork. (JDB, 1978)

Reverse backwards! (Keven 1973)

You're my dad my best friend (Keven's last words, 1975)

... you're trying to reinvent the wheel.

... like trying to swim up Niagara falls.

... ridiculous as asking a turkey to vote for Christmas.

... inexperience doesn't mean incapable.

... rather like a loose cannon.

... fall on his own sword.

... as welcome as a turd in a swimming pool (circa 1970s)

Power tends to corrupt and absolute power corrupts absolutely, Lord Action (1834-1902) British Historian.

Why didst thou promise such a beauteous day,
And make me travel forth without my cloak,
To let base clouds o'ertake me in my way,

Hiding thy brav'ry in their rotten smoke? (WS Sonnet 34)

No more be grieved at that which thou hast done,
Roses have thorns and silver fountains mud,
Clouds and eclipses stain both more and sun,
And loathsome canker lives in sweetest bud. (WS Sonnets 35)

... walking on eggshells.

I am moved to pity, when I think of the brevity of human life, seeing that all this host of men not one will be alive in a hundred years' time. – Xerxes (pronounced certees)
(d. 465BC) King of Persia. On surveying his army

molon labe – come & get 'em yourself (Leonides at the battle of Thermopylae 480BC)

Go tell the Spartans, passerby, that here, obedient to their laws, we lie (Unknown but may be Herodotus 484 BC)

... about as useful as a chocolate fireguard.

Measure twice cut once (c Teddy Ashwood, 1977)

Is it a poisoned chalice?

... this could be more difficult to prove than Fermat's last theorem. - JDB

... it's not rocket science.

... I'm not the propeller (used in the sense of driving something)

... flame thrower approach.

... even the strongest tree must bend with the wind.

For ever and a day (WS - As you like it)

There is nothing either good or bad, but thinking makes it so (WS - Hamlet)

We know what we are, but know not what we may be (WS - Hamlet)

Some rise by sin, and others by virtue fall (WS - Measure for Measure)

O, it is excellent to have a giant's strength; but it's tyrannous to use it like a giant.
(WS - Measure for Measure)

MY FAVOURITE QUOTATIONS IN NO PARTICULAR ORDER AND COLLECTED OVER 30 YEARS...

There's small choice in rotten apples (WS - The Tempest)

We cannot all be masters (WS - Othello)

... forced to suffer the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune... (Hamlet)

When sorrows come, they come not single spies but in battalions (Hamlet, King Claudius to Gertrude)

There are a number of strands and some are intertwined ...

... we are at opposite ends of (say) the contractual spectrum.

... it's rather embryonic at the moment.

... soon reaching the critical mass ...

If you were a conker
And I was a string
We'd win every battle
We'd beat every thing (If you were a carrot - poem)

Ships fear fire more than water

It's going belly up.
It's going pear shaped.
It's going tits up.

If we can get to within an amoeba's toenail...

You cannot turn an omelette back into eggs.

You don't have to be perfect, to be perfect for me These hands have hurt, these lips betrayed (poem by W H Auden).

...that finds the fenced-in pastures very green (poem by W H Auden).

You're like a bag of sugar.

... against the ropes...

Like the sword of Damocles [pronounced Dam-a-clees] ... hanging over me - an imminent danger, or constant threat.

ETERNITY:

He who binds himself a joy
Does the winged life destroy;
But he who kisses the joy as it flies

Lives in eternity's sun rise.

SEA OF LOVE:

You were a great Cunarder, I
Was only a fishing smack.
Once you passed across my bows
And of course you did not look back.

It was only a single moment yet
I watch the sea and sigh,
Because my heart can never forget
The day you passed me by. (W H Auden ?1932)

I want there to be an evolution between us not a revolution.

We need to build bridges not dig ditches.

HINTERHOF by James Fenton

Stay near to me and I'll stay near to you -
As near as you are dear to me will do,
Near as the rainbow to the rain,
The west wind to the windowpane,
As fire to the hearth, as dawn to dew.

Stay true to me and I'll stay true to you -
As true as you are new to me will do,
New as the rainbow in the spray,
Utterly new in every way,
New in the way that what you say is true.

Stay near to me, as true to you as heart could pray.
Heart never hoped that one might be
Half of the things you are to me -
The dawn, the fire, the rainbow and the day.

GRAVITAS (Walt Whitman's Leaves of Grass)

"I am he that aches with amorous love;
Does the earth gravitate?
Does not all matter, aching, attract all matter?
So the Body of me, to all I meet, or know.

Smiling is infectious
You catch it like the flu
When someone smiled at me today
I started smiling too.

I walked around the corner
And someone saw my grin,
When he smiled, I realised,
I'd passed it on to him.

I thought about the smile
And realised its worth;
A single smile like mine
Could travel round the earth.

If you feel a smile begin
Don't leave it undetected
Let's start an epidemic quick
And get the world infected!

I've searched in my mind
The other day for solutions
To our problems, the quarrels,
And the fights. How can two people
In love hurt each other so?
We tore each other & each had claws so deep.

You don't now how bad it is, that's how bad it is (TV programme 1998)

The answer to that question is spherical and in the plural (Carter 1922).

Into a mirror

And, as an image,
Come to you
Because you're Merely being you.

If you want anything done ask a busy man because a lazy man can't find the time (Dad c 1970).

I feel stretched like butter spread too thinly on bread (Film – Lord of the Rings 2002).

(Joseph Carey Merrick, 1862-1890):

Tis true my form is something odd,
But blaming me is blaming God;
Could I create myself anew
I would not fail in pleasing you.

Was I so tall, could reach the pole
Or grasp the ocean with a span,
I would be measured by the soul,
The minds the standard of the man.
